The Genesis of an Iconic Race

The Isle of Man TT was first held in 1907, emerging from the desire to promote the burgeoning motor industry and to establish the Isle of Man as a premier motorsport destination. The race initially comprised a series of time trials and hill climbs, but it soon evolved into a high-speed road race through the narrow, winding public roads of the island. The challenging course, known as the Snaefell Mountain Course, was approximately 37.73 miles long and included a mix of fast straights and treacherous bends.

The early years were characterized by primitive technology, limited safety measures, and a robust spirit of adventure. Riders faced significant risks, with fatalities and serious injuries not uncommon. Nonetheless, the allure of speed and the thrill of competition drew talented riders eager to etch their names into history.

Key Milestones in the Early Decades

- 1907: Inaugural race won by Frederick C. Dixon on a Léon Bollée motorcycle, with an average speed of around 33 mph.
