Pixar's roots trace back to the early 1980s when it was established as a division of Lucasfilm, the company founded by filmmaker George Lucas. Originally called the Graphics Group, the division was focused on developing computer graphics technology for industrial and entertainment purposes. Recognizing the potential of computer-generated imagery (CGI), Lucasfilm's leadership invested heavily in R&D, aiming to revolutionize visual storytelling.

In 1986, Apple Inc. co-founder Steve Jobs purchased the division, rebranding it as Pixar and positioning it as an independent company dedicated to computer animation.
