The SNP was founded in 1934 through the merger of two earlier parties: the National Party of Scotland (NPS) and the Scottish Party. The NPS had been established in 1928 with the explicit goal of promoting Scottish independence, while the Scottish Party was a smaller group advocating for greater Scottish self-governance. The merger aimed to unify Scottish nationalist efforts under a single banner, but initial progress was slow.

During the early decades, the SNP was a minor party with limited electoral success. independence, positioning resource control as a central tenet of SNP policy.

Electoral breakthroughs in 1967 and 1970s, though modest, established the SNP as a significant player.
